

GERMANY DEFIES WILSON; WILL CONTINUE SUBMARINE WARFARE

DIPLOMATIC BREAK NOW BELIEVED TO BE INEVITABLE

Latest Reply from Berlin Unpleasant Surprise for Washington—New Orders to Submarine Commanders Provide for Search Before Sinking of Merchant Ships, But Germany Will Not Obey International Laws Unless Great Britain Will Change Starvation Policy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 5.—Official Washington today was well convinced that the long anticipated diplomatic break with Germany cannot be avoided. Publication of the unofficial text of the German reply, which, it is accepted, is in every way accurate, came as a most unpleasant surprise to those who have been expecting that the American viewpoint would be met.

The note is accepted as a defiance of the position outlined by the president on April 18 and officials believe that it shows that the German government still fails to realize that the United States is in deadly earnest in its demand that present submarine methods of warfare be abandoned.

The charge that the United States is responsible for the dangers confronting its citizens traveling on ships flying the flag of belligerent nations is a direct attack upon the position of President Wilson that.

The situations on today is fraught with the greatest danger. Although it was officially announced that until the complete official text is received and studied by the president and his advisers no action will be taken, the majority of officials were fully confident that at last the breaking point in sight.

Berlin, May 5.—Germany's reply to the note of the United States which was made public today defends Germany's submarine warfare.

Germany does not regard the reply as final. In the response the opportunity is asked to make further representations to the United States, particularly in regard to the Sussex.

The note declares that the German government has restricted her submarine activities to her own disadvantage and to the advantage of the allies, adding:

"No such consideration has ever been shown neutrals by Great Britain and her allies."

The contention of the Imperial German government is that the submarine warfare of this nation has always been conducted with regard to the rules of war.

The exception has been in the case of enemy trade or carried on in the "war zone" waters in the British Isles, the note states.

However, no assurances were ever given to the United States in respect to such trade, it was declared by the foreign office.

The United States is charged with responsibility for the dangers confronting citizens of that country traveling upon ships flying the flag of a belligerent nation.

Still Stands by Offer.

If the United States had accepted the proposals of Germany, the note says, the greater part of these accidents to citizens of the United States would have been avoided.

the United States which were not substantiated by facts.

The note opens with mention of the Sussex case and the first sections of it are less conciliatory than had been expected. In fact, there was a defiant tone about it.

Full Text of Reply.

The following is the text of the German reply:

"The undersigned on behalf of the Imperial German government has the honor to present to his excellency, the ambassador of the United States, James W. Gerard, the following reply to the note of April 20, regarding the conduct of German submarine warfare."

"The German government handed over to the proper naval authorities for further investigation evidence concerning the Sussex as communicated by the government of the United States."

"The German government is alive to the possibility of a submarine being torpedoed by a German submarine is actually identical with the Sussex."

Would Await Inquiry.

"The German government begs to reserve further communications on the matter until certain points are ascertained which are of decisive importance for establishing the complete facts in the case."

"Should it turn out that the commander (of the submarine) was wrong in assuming the vessel (the Sussex) to be a man of war the German government will not fail to draw consequences resulting therefrom."

(By the foregoing sentence the German government guarantees to make amends it would deem proper under the circumstances.)

"In connection with the case of the Sussex the United States made a series of statements the gist of which is the assertion that the incident to be considered was but one instance of a deliberate method of the indiscriminate destruction of vessels of all sorts and all nationalities and destinations by German submarine commanders."

Assertion is Repudiated.

"The German government must emphatically repudiate the assertion but the German government, however, thinks it of little avail to enter into details in the present stage of affairs, more particularly as the government of the United States omitted to substantiate assertions by reference to concrete facts."

"The German government will only state that it has imposed far reaching restraints upon the use of the submarine weapon solely in consideration of the interests of neutrals, in spite of the fact that these restrictions were necessarily of advantage to Germany's enemies."

"No such consideration has ever been shown to neutrals by Great Britain and her allies."

"German submarine forces have, in fact, had orders to conduct submarine warfare in accordance with the general principles of visit and search. The destruction of merchant ships has been recognized by international law, the sole exception being the conduct of warfare against enemy trade carried on against enemy freight ships encountered in the war zone waters around Great Britain (British Isles). With regard to these no assurances were ever given to the United States government."

"No such assurances were contained in the declaration of February 8, 1916."

No Protection Within Zone.

"The German government cannot admit that it has any doubt about these orders being carried out. No kind of warfare can be avoided altogether and allowance must be made in the conduct of naval warfare against an enemy that is resorting to all kinds of ruses, be they permissible or illegal."

tions were confined to the ordinary form of cruiser (man-of-war) fighting neutral persons and goods have repeatedly come to grief.

Can't Dispense With Subs.

"The German government has repeatedly and explicitly, pointed out dangers of mines that have led to the loss of numerous ships."

"The German government has made several proposals to the government of the United States in order to reduce to a minimum for American travelers and goods the (inherent) natural dangers of naval warfare."

"Unfortunately the government of the United States decided not to accept the proposals. Had it accepted them the government of the United States would have been instrumental in preventing a greater part of the accidents that American citizens have met with. In the meantime the German government still stands by its offer to come to an agreement along these lines."

"The German government has repeatedly declared it cannot dispense with the use of the submarine weapon in the conduct of warfare against enemy trade."

"The German government, however, has now decided to make further concessions, adapting the methods of submarine warfare to the interests of neutrals. In reaching this decision the German government was actuated by considerations which are above the level of the questions in dispute."

Principles of Humanity.

"The German government attaches no less importance to the sacred principles of humanity than the government of the United States. Again, it fully takes into account the fact that both governments (German and American) have for years co-operated in developing international law in conformity with these principles (of humanity). The object has been always to confine warfare on both sea and land to armed forces of belligerents and safeguard as far as possible non-combatants against the horrors of war."

"But while these considerations are of great weight, they alone, under the present circumstances, would not by themselves have determined the attitude of the German government."

"In answer to the appeal by the government of the United States on behalf of the sacred principles of humanity and international law, the German government must repeat once more with all the emphasis at its command that it was not the German but the British government which, ignoring all the accepted rules of international law, extended this terrible war to the lives and property of non-combatants, having no regard whatever for the rights and interests of neutrals and non-combatants that, through this method of warfare, have been severely injured."

Submarine Only Resort.

"In self defense against the illegal conduct of warfare by the British, and while fighting a bitter struggle for her very national existence, Germany has had to resort to the hard but effective weapon of submarine warfare."

"As matters stand the German government cannot but reiterate that the sentiments of humanity, which the government of the United States extends with such fervor to unhappy victims of submarine warfare are not extended with the same warmth of feeling to many millions of women and children who, according to the avowed intention of the British government, shall be starved and who, by suffering, shall force the victorious armies of the Central Powers into ignominious capitulation."

Fail to Understand it.

"The German government in agreement with (as well as) the German people, fails to understand this discrimination, all the more as this government has explicitly declared itself ready to use the submarine in strict conformity with the rules of international law as recognized before the outbreak of the war, if Great Britain will likewise adapt her conduct of the war to these rules.

"Several attempts made by the government of the United States to prevail upon the British government to act accordingly (in accord with the principles of international law), failed, because of the flat refusal on the part of England."

"Moreover, Great Britain ever since (the beginning of the war) again and again violated international law, surpassing all bounds in outraging neutral rights. The latest measures, adopted by Great Britain in declaring German bunker coal contraband and establishing conditions under which only English bunker coal can be supplied to neutrals is nothing but an unheard of attempt, by the way of the exaction of force, to compel neutral tonnage to enter the service of the British."

"The German people know that the government of the United States has power to conduct the war to armed forces and to belligerent countries in the interests of humanity and to maintain (the integrity of) international law."

The Impression in Germany.

"The government of the United States would have been certain in attaining its end had it been determined to insist (protest) against Great Britain on its incontestable rights to the freedom of the seas."

"But as matters stand the German people are under the impression that the government of the United States, while demanding that Germany, struggling for existence, shall restrain the use of its effective weapon while making compliance with these demands (of the United States) for the maintenance of (amicable) relations, confined itself to protests against alleged methods adopted by Germany's enemies."

"Moreover, the German people know that what considerable extent the German government has supplied (for Germany) arms and munitions from the United States."

Impending Doom Considered.

"It will therefore be understood that the appeal made by the government of the United States to the sentiments of humanity and the principles of international law cannot meet with the same hearty response from the German people which such an appeal would otherwise always certainly find here."

"If the German government nevertheless resolved to go to the utmost limit of concessions it has not alone been guided by the friendship connecting the two great nations for more than one hundred years, but also by the thought of the great doom which threatens the entire (civilized) world should the cruel and sanguinary war be extended and prolonged."

"The German government is conscious of Germany's strength. Twice within the last few months (we) announced before the world our readiness to make peace on a basis safeguarding Germany's vital interests thus indicating that it is not Germany's fault if peace is withheld from the nations of Europe."

Responsibility not Berlin's.

"The German government feels all the more justified to declare that responsibility could not be borne (by Germany) before the Forum of Mankind if, after twenty one months of warfare, the submarine question under discussion between the German and United States governments were (had) taken a turn to threaten seriously the maintenance of peace between the two nations."

"As far as lies with the German government it wishes to prevent things from taking such a course."

"The German government moreover is prepared to do its utmost to confine the operation of the war, during the balance of its duration, to fighting forces of belligerents, thereby insuring the freedom of the seas, a principle upon which the German government believes now, as it did before, to be in agreement with the government of the United States."

Latest Orders Issued.

"The German government, guided by this idea hereby notifies the government of the United States, that German naval forces have received the following orders:

"In accordance with the general principles of search and destruction of merchant vessels, as recognized by international law, such vessels both within and without the area declared a war zone (the waters around the British Isles) shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives unless ships attempt to escape or offer resistance."

Not For Neutrality's Sake.

"But neutrals cannot expect that Germany, forced to fight for her very existence, shall for the sake of neutral interests restrict the use of her effective weapon (the submarine) if the enemy is permitted to apply all will methods of warfare violating the rules of international law. Such a demand would be incompatible with character (honor) and neutrality and the German government is convinced that the government of the United States does not think of making such demand, knowing that the government of the United States has repeatedly declared that it is determined to restore the principle of the freedom of the seas no matter from what quarter they (the freedom of the seas) are violated."

Went British Action Forced.

"Accordingly, the German government is confident that the consequences of the new orders issued to the naval forces will be that the United States now consider all impediments removed which have been in the way of mutual co-operation towards restoration of the freedom of the seas during the remainder of the war, as suggested in the note of July 21, 1915, and it (the German government) does not doubt that the government of the United States will now demand and insist that the British government shall forthwith observe the international laws universally recognized before the war and which were laid down in notes presented by the United States to England on December 28, 1914, and November 5, 1915."

"Should the steps taken by the United States government fail to attain the object it desires, i. e. to have the laws of humanity followed by all belligerent nations, the German government would then be facing a new situation in which it must reserve for itself complete liberty of decision."

"The undersigned avails himself of an opportunity to renew to the American ambassador assurances of the highest consideration."

The name of Dr. von Jagow, the secretary of state for foreign affairs in the German government, was signed to the German note."

No Comment at Embassy.

Washington, May 5.—In the absence of Count von Bernstorff, German embassy officials today refused to comment upon the reply to the American ultimatum. They are receiving a copy but have not yet obtained all of it. The complete note will be received by the time the ambassador returns from New York this afternoon.

FIRST MAY DAY A SPLENDID SUCCESS

Students at Kingston High School Celebrated the School's First May Day Exercises on Campus This Morning—An Elaborate Program Given.

Under lowering skies the first annual May Day exercises of Kingston high school were held this morning on the school campus when Miss Hazel M. Toole was crowned Queen of the May with appropriate ceremonies. Fortunately, the exercises were not dampened by any downpour and the threatened rain storm did not materialize greatly to the relief of the students and the large number of interested friends who lined Broadway to watch the exercises.

Starting with the assembly in the auditorium at 9 o'clock everything worked smoothly. An hour later Prime Minister Sherman V. Hasbrouck delivered his proclamation, proclaiming the election and coronation of the May Queen, which was followed by the royal procession around the school campus headed by the senior banner and the high school drum corps.

After the pretty May Pole dance by a number of the young girls an extremely well rendered program in honor of Shakespearean tercentenary was given by the students. The program in full was given in Thursday's Freeman.

The exercises were a credit to the new high school and the students who arranged and took part in the exercises are deserving of high praise. They have set a high mark for future May Day exercises to attain.

CRUISER DESTROYS ZEPPELIN.

Second Dirigible Lost by Germany Within 24 Hours.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, May 5.—The British Admiralty announced today that a German Zeppelin was destroyed on Thursday by fire from an English light cruiser off the Schleswig coast. This was the second Zeppelin lost within 24 hours, the L-20 having been dashed into the sea by a storm off the Norwegian coast on Wednesday.

The Zeppelin destroyed by the cruiser was the thirtieth lost by Germany since the war began.

PLANS ALL IN AIR ON PREPAREDNESS

House and Senate Conferees Nearly Agreed on Army Organization and Nitrogen Plant When President's Message Spills the Beans.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 5.—The administration today confronted a legislative tangle which threatened seriously to delay the enactment of the land defence portion of the president's preparedness program.

The conference committee of the house and senate on the army reorganization bill gave up all efforts to reconcile the differences between the two branches and Chairman Hay of the house committee prepared to ask the house for further instructions.

The conferees were unable to effect any sort of an agreement on two disputed points in the measure. These were the senate plan for an army of federal volunteers, and the proposal for a plant to manufacture nitrogen for explosives from the air, under joint control of the federal government and private interests.

Substantial agreement was in sight when President Wilson notified the conferees through Representative Hay that he was in complete accord with the senate provisions on both of these points. The president was especially warm in his advocacy of the nitrate plant authorization. As the house by a vote of 275 to 179 had fairly definitely indicated its provision from the house bill, the house conferees declined to agree to the senate plan, and the conference broke up in total disagreement.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL WINS BANK PRIZE

Miss Jessie Barton Awarded $50 by Savings Banks in State-wide Competition Open to All High School Students.

Miss Jessie Barton, a student at the Kingston High School, has been awarded the second prize of $50 offered by The Savings Banks Association of the State of New York in the prize essay contest conducted by the association on the subject of "Thrift."

The contest was thrown open to students of all high schools throughout the state in cities where there are savings banks. Rules of the contest provided that the number of words in each essay should not exceed one thousand. The essays were submitted to the principals of the high schools who selected from the number submitted the three which were considered the most meritorious and these in turn were forwarded to the prize essay contest committee. Henry A. Schenck, president of the Bowers Savings Bank of New York City, was chairman of that committee. The essays were forwarded by Chairman Schenck to the chairman of the five groups into which the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York is divided, and each of the chairmen selected from the essays so submitted the three best essays, the final fifteen essays so selected going then to James H. Manning, president of the state association, who selected the five which he deemed the most meritorious. The first prize was $100; second prize, $50; third prize, $25; fourth prize, $15; fifth prize, $10.

Chairman Schenck of the prize essay contest committee is endeavoring to have Miss Barton go to New York on May 17, on which date the association will hold its centenary exercises, in order that she with the other winners of the contest may receive the prizes.

Judge Betts, president of the Kingston Savings Bank, has been notified of the result of the contest by Chairman Schenck and has been invited to be present with other officers of the bank at the association's centenary exercises in New York on May 17.

He is now at The Baltimore at Kansas City, where he writes that he is receiving competent care and expects shortly to recover. He is being attended by Dr. Frederick J. Hall, one of the best known physicians in the west.

STRIKERS ATTACK ROCHESTER POLICE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Rochester, May 5.—Police, on guard at the Child Street plant of Michaels, Stern and Company, clothing manufacturers, were attacked this forenoon by a mob of 500 striking garment workers who marched to the plant for the purpose of inducing the employees there to join the strike. A riot call was telephoned to police headquarters and two patrol wagons filled with 30 policemen in charge of Deputy Chief Zimmerman, were rushed to the plant.

The strike was inaugurated yesterday afternoon when 500 employees of the company engaged on piece work walked out of the Central avenue plant after voicing a demand for better working conditions and increased wages.

FORMER DIPLOMAT IN TROUBLE AGAIN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 5.—The American Embassy in London is making a complete investigation of the arrest of James M. Sullivan, former American minister to Santo Domingo, charged with conspiracy in the 1914 uprising. A complete report of the case will be forwarded to this city as soon as possible and then Secretary Lansing will decide what steps, if any, can be taken by this government to relieve the former diplomat's plight.

Officials are seriously concerned over the arrest of Sullivan. He is extremely popular in Irish-American circles throughout the country and any drastic action against him by Great Britain would mean that his friends would consider reprisals. They declare that while Sullivan has been an ardent advocate of home rule for Ireland all of his life, he has never advocated revolutionary tactics. His presence in Ireland, they say, was due entirely to a desire to visit his birthplace in an effort to recover his health, impaired while serving as minister to Santo Domingo.

CENTRAL ACCEPTS MEDIATION OFFER

Railroad and Employees to Arbitrate Trouble—Strikebreakers Still Here Ready to Take Places Moment Men Strike.

An announcement Thursday night that the New York Central railroad officially had accepted the offer of the Federal Board of Mediation and Conciliation to mediate in the threatened strike of 5,000 telegraphers and signalmen on its lines between New York and Chicago, was followed by a statement from H. B. Perham, head of the telegraphers' organization, that he did not think a strike call would be issued pending the negotiations. He added that he expected all differences would be adjusted.

Regarding the possibility of the company's failure to run its trains following a strike and any shortage of competent telegraphers to fill the positions of the strikers, it was stated that the company now has secured 1,200 guards and 1,000 strikebreakers, nearly all of the latter being competent in these capacities.

Pending the outcome of the trouble strikebreakers are still being held in Kingston ready to step in the moment the regular men walk out.

Not at State Dept.

Washington, May 5.—As he entered the White House executive offices this morning to attend the cabinet meeting, Secretary of State Lansing said that no portion of Germany's reply had yet reached the state department.

Broke His Thigh by Fall.

Thursday afternoon John Faulkner, colored, while at work on Hunter's brickyard, fell in a pit and broke his thigh. He was removed to the Kingston City Hospital in the ambulance.

POLICE RAIDED THE HOBO CAMP

Thursday afternoon Sergeant Hunter, Policeman Shadler and Detective Goodsell of the West Shore railroad, made a raid on the hobo camp near the West Shore tunnel and rounded up five hoboes. This morning they gave their names as Frank Kelly, Frank Webster, James Wilson, William Fagan and Thomas Dillon.

Arraigned before Recorder Lang they told various stories of how they had been working in the south, but had come north a few days ago. They said that they were not bothering any one and were behaving themselves.

Recorder Lang sentenced them to three months in the pen at Albany and the sentence was followed by a wild appeal from the tramps who almost got down on their knees in their pleas to the court not to send them to Albany, but to give them another chance.

"How long will it take you to get out of town?" asked the court after he had heard their pleas.

"Two minutes," said one of the hoboes eagerly, while another piped up "Three minutes, your honor."

The court informed them that this time he would let them off with a suspended sentence if they got out of town instantly. They lost no time in leaving the city hall.

VILLA NOT DEAD BUT RECRUITING

El Paso, May 5.—On the eve of concluding the diplomatic negotiations between the United States and Mexico, the American army has again definitely located Pancho Villa.

General Pershing, from his headquarters near Naniquipa, today wired General Funston that he has information which he regards as reliable that Villa is hiding in Durango, where he is trying to recruit more followers. In the message to Funston, it is understood General Pershing gave details as to the bandit's hiding place. These, however, were withheld by General Funston, who said it was impossible to reveal at this time for military reasons—the exact whereabouts of Villa.

Although minor details of the agreement between military representatives of the United States and Mexican de facto government relative to the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico remained to be cleared up, General Alvaro Obregón and General Hugh L. Scott, both prepared to leave Juárez today, however, they may be detained by orders from Washington and Mexico City.

Already a plan of action seems to have been agreed upon.

The American troops under Brigadier General J. J. Pershing are gradually falling back toward the border. It is expected that no troops will be brought across to United States soil, however, until after the Obregón-Scott agreement is ratified by President Wilson and General Carranza.

Across the border Mexicans were engaged today in celebration of the national holiday, Cinco De Mayo, the anniversary of the decisive battle in the war of French intervention. Mexicans took occasion to give vent to added jubilation over reports that the American soldiers would soon be out of Mexico. They regard the promise of the United States to withdraw its forces as a great victory for the Carranza government.

No Make-shift Bridge Wanted

Palmer Canfield, Sr., advocates the erection of a roller lift bridge for trunk highway No. 3's entrance into Kingston. He says it would cost only $95,000, compared with the $300,000 or so necessary for a bridge high enough to obviate interference with shipping as the state highway department has proposed. If a roller lift bridge were provided it would be a makeshift. The shipping in Rondout creek is heavy and increasing and if the bridge had to be rolled up every time a boat passed travel would be greatly inconvenienced. Like the Storm King road, the Rondout creek bridge is a great permanent work and should be constructed with consideration of future needs. To economize on a project of this kind is poor policy.—Newburgh News.

Athletics at School No. 1.

This morning a number of athletic events were held at the May Day exercises at School No. 1 and the various events were closely contested. The winners and events follow: 55 yard dash won by Thomas McFarlane; three-legged race won by Bernard Coughlin and Frank Schuck; sack race won by Leonard White; vaulting won by Leroy Peck; high jump won by Henry Cragan; broad jump by Henry Cragan. In the baseball game the Champions defeated the Progressives by a score of 15 to 9.

Immunity in Army Service.

London, May 5.—The new military service bill, making conscription general, has been amended to include Ireland, according to the Exchange Telegraph.

Another amendment provides immunity for Irish rebels who took part in the recent uprising if they enlist in the British army.

Ireland was excluded from the original conscription measures.

FOUR MORE IRISH REBELS ARE SHOT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, May 5.—Four more leaders of the Irish rebels were shot this morning.

They had been found guilty of treason by a general field court martial.

The victims were: Joseph Plunkett, Edward Daly, Michael O'Hannahan and William Pearse.

Plunkett was one of the seven Sinn Feiners who signed the proclamation declaring Ireland free and independent of England.

The other three took an active part in preparing for the uprising, and were engaged in actual fighting, but were not signers of the proclamation.

The death sentences were carried out by a firing squad at dawn.

Seventeen other rebel leaders were sentenced to ten years' imprisonment.

The text of the official statement follows:

"Following further results of the trials of Sinn Fein rebels, it is announced that the following were convicted and sentenced to death: Joseph Plunkett, Edward Daly, Michael O'Hannahan and William Pearse. They were shot this morning after their sentences were confirmed by the general officer commanding in chief."

William Pearse was a brother to the 'Provisional President of the Irish Republic,' who was executed in Dublin earlier in the week.

DEBATING CLUB'S DINNER AND DANCE

The long-anticipated banquet of the Webster Hayne Debating Club was held Thursday evening at the Stuyvesant Hotel and proved a complete success. Members and guests assembled at 8 o'clock, each member escorting a friend. The honorary guests were Prof. Michael and Prof. Moulton and the Hon. John Eckert, who acted as judge for Kingston in the Kingston-Poughkeepsie debate, Misses Noone, and Hull and Mrs. Whittier. In all, about seventy-five sat down to the sumptuous dinner.

Needless to say that the debaters enjoyed all the courses of the excellent menu, and the committee in charge of the evening's entertainment, William Winston, (chairman), George Greene, Calvin Winnie, Leroy Gull, Harper Leeper, Sherman Hasbrouck, Joe Hazen and John Church are commended for the manner in which everything was accomplished.

Mr. Michael, who was unable to be present in time to sit down with the debaters, arrived during the dinner, and all present with one accord, rose in their seats as a token of their deep regard for the superintendent.

When the last course had been carried away the club's president, George Greene, arose and suggested a few words from Mr. Michael. After this in the order mentioned short speeches were made by Miss Noone, the esteemed coach of the debating team, William Winston, a strong member of the team, and lastly Sherman Hasbrouck, who in addition to being a member of the team, is also the senior president.

After a brief but notable speeches announcement was made that there was dancing in Pythian Hall, and thither the youthful orators and their friends and guests went to enjoy the enchanting dances played by Miller's orchestra. The dancing broke up about two o'clock and everyone was satisfied that the whole evening's program was as fine as it possibly could have been.

The members of the club are at present: Albert Deyo, Edward Van Winkle, George W. Greene, William Winston, John Church, Sherman Hasbrouck, Ernest Palen, Samuel Goldwasser, Calvin Winnie, Watson Haines, Charles Sibley, LeRoy Gull, Irving Guttridge, Alfred Schmid, Morris Hulstet, Joe Hazen, Harry Leventhal, Geoffrey Springnoll, Raymond DuVond, Aubrey Arnet, Russell Dana, Warren Griffin, Wilson LeFever Channing, Clapp, Leonard Lockwood, Rufus Van Aken, Arthur McGuire, Eugene Gleason, Harper Leeper, Eugene Freer, Lester Boice, Edward Stelle. All were present at the spread and their attendance was well rewarded.

SCHERMERHORN BOY FREED BY JURY

After a lively trial in recorder's court before Recorder Lang Thursday evening, the jury before whom was tried Frank Schermerhorn, 13 years old, on a charge of unlawful entry with intent to commit malicious mischief, brought in a verdict of "not guilty" and the boy was discharged by the court. It took the six good men and true just four minutes to reach a verdict after considering the evidence which was principally given by colored residents of Martin's Lane. The charge against the boy was brought by A. H. Gildersleeve, the commission merchant, who alleged that the boy had entered a vacant house on Martin's Lane and broken the windows and jabbed holes in the walls. Newton H. Fessenden represented Mr. Gildersleeve, while Edward McKiernan appeared in behalf of the boy.

Exhibition of Aesthetic Dancing. The dancing classes of Miss Delta Boice will give a most interesting and artistic exhibition of aesthetic Greek interpretive, national, folk and characteristic dancing at St. Mary's Hall tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon at 2 o'clock. The young people giving these dances will appear in costume and the exhibition promises to be a real treat. The public are cordially invited to attend this entertainment, no admission being charged and there being no invitations.

Applied Proverb of Modern Business

"Faint heart never won fat dollars."

Or as John Wanamaker once stated another phase of the equation:

"Advertising is no business for the quitter."

The man that sticks at it wins. The article with merit that is advertised day in and day out is the article that turns profits for its sponsors.

The effect of advertising is cumulative. Returns grow bigger with every repetition.

There are advertisers using this newspaper that increase their space year after year.

And each year their sales enlarge. They are men who find that advertising pays.

It's Easy to Wish.
Two of Twobble's acquaintances met on a street corner and one remarked that the daily papers again referred to Twobble as a possible appointee to a state petty office. "He is always being mentioned for some kind of office," he continued. "I wonder why he never gets appointed to one?" "I suspect," said the other, "that's because Twobble's friends are the sort of people who wish you well without stopping to see whether their wishes are carried out or not."—Argonaut.

Assyrian Seal.
The ancient Assyrians nearly 6000 years ago put in moist clay their seals engraved in intaglio upon precious stones, on chests and doors, in order to prevent their being opened. There were no locks or keys in those days. If they wished to send a private letter they would often seal it with a hippogriff, which fabulous winged horse was regarded as the emblem of secrecy. Centuries later the Greeks and Romans adopted similar devices for the same purpose.

Why; I haven't decided whether to get Mixed Paint and let my man do it as have some painter do it.

Miss Ethel Wilcox has had a teacher from New York, Miss Boice, and one of her pupils for a short visit. They returned to the city on Wednesday, well pleased with their trip and they greatly enjoyed the change.

Poverty social was held Friday evening last by Presbyterian people in their church hall. All who attended said they had a nice time. Ada Van Ostrand was the hostess to the members of the U. D. Society last Saturday. There was quite a number present. They held their business session and then had a social hour at which time the refreshments were served. All had a very pleasant afternoon.

Miss Josephine Wing, the evangelistic singer who is in this place for a short time, sang in the Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening. She rendered her solo, "The Prodigal Son," beautifully. Her voice is a clear, sweet, high soprano, of which she has thorough command. She has been in concert work and everyone enjoys her singing. Rev. G. H. Scofield, the pastor, preached a sermon to the Odd Fellow organization.

Rev. E. A. Bray, who resides on Vineyard avenue, and has preached in New York several years, gave one of his grand sermons in the M. E. Church last Sunday evening to a large congregation. It had not been announced that he was to preach and everyone was taken by surprise and were just delighted to hear him and hope he may be prevailed upon to again favor the people in the very near future. The large choir rendered some fine selections before the sermon, also an anthem. They are doing effective work.

Last Sunday morning Rev. J. C. Coddington, pastor of First M. E. Church, was greeted with a very large congregation, who listened to a grand sermon on "Eternal Life," which was of special interest and profit. Next Sunday morning communion will be celebrated, also admission of new members in the church, and in the evening the pastor commences a series of sermons on "The Bells." The choir will render special music. Miss Wing repeated by request "Hail Easter Morn" at the morning service and sang in her usual impressive manner, and her singing is at all times greatly appreciated.

Wednesday evening a number from New Paltz and this place were in Poughkeepsie to hear the famous tenor singer, John McCormack. He is very popular and a grand singer. His accompanist played most delightfully and the violinist, as well as the others, won great applause. He will ever be greeted with an enthusiastic audience.

Alfred Palmer was in New York city last Thursday on business. M. E. Church choir held their rehearsal last Friday evening; their regular practice comes on Tuesday evening but on account of the supper and sale in the church on Tuesday evening caused the postponement this week; practice was on Monday evening.

Mrs. George Pratt was hostess to the Sunday Club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Edward Starr had charge of the program, which was on southern melodies.

Mrs. J. R. Bray led the early meeting of Epworth League last Sunday evening and the orchestra led the music. Mrs. Bray was a very interesting leader and at the close of part first H. E. Wilcox gave a few minutes talk on Billy Sunday's work in Baltimore. We were informed by a member that it was a splendid description and all present wished Mr. Wilcox could have had more time to present the work which was greatly appreciated. Many are already laying plans to go to Ocean Grove to hear Billy the latter part of the summer, and we imagine all who can raise the price will embrace the opportunity, for such treats are more than rare.

The St. Cecilia Ladies' Singing Society of Poughkeepsie gave one of their popular concerts Monday evening under leadership of Charles M. Eastmead. They had a tenor and bass soloist who were both very popular, as was shown by the way they were received; they carried the audience by storm. The chorus work was very highly spoken of. Mr. Eastmead is considered a fine director. There were a few from this place in attendance at the concert and they were elated over the musical success.

The Grange held their regular meeting Tuesday and Principal E. A. Marsh, the lecturer, had as usual, something good in store. The Grange has increased in members and interest since he became the head and he has brought it in line as among workers after being slow for a long time. Let the good work go on.

NOTED AUTHORESS RUSSELL'S BRIDE

Creator of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden" Secretly Wedded to Notorious Baronet—Daughter Recent Guest of the Bigelows.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, May 5.—Great interest has been aroused over the announcement of the marriage of Earl Russell to the Countess von Armin. The marriage was a secret one and occurred "somewhere in England" two or three weeks ago, where has not yet been discovered.

The secret marriage was first made public here through the news being recalled back to England from New York. Since then all efforts by the sleuths of Fleet Street to find out where the marriage took place have failed. It is, however, known that the Earl and Countess were married at a Registry Office and only near relatives—sworn to secrecy—were present.

The Countess is the widow of a Prussian nobleman—he died in 1910—who was a great favorite with the Kaiser, and she is the author of many popular novels, chief among them "Elizabeth and Her German Garden," in which the Count is alluded to as the "Man of Iron."

She is a pretty, "petite" Englishwoman and a sister of Dr. Beauchamp, one of the most popular ladies' doctors in London. The Countess has a son and four daughters by her late German husband. Two of the girls are now in the United States, where one of them has recently been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Poulney Bigelow.

The Countess wished to keep the marriage quiet, because of her German name and for the sake of her daughters, whose marked Teutonic accents when speaking English goes very much against them on this side.

Earl Russell is a grandson of the famous statesman and a cousin of the Duke of Bedford. His appearance—fat and long haired—is as eccentric as his nature.

He has always had the knack of slipping up scandal. His first wife was Mabel Scott, and the marriage was brought about by her mother, Lena, Lady Scott, whose alleged relations with her son-in-law constituted a scandal of the nineties.

The match ended unhappily. Countess Russell brought grave charges against her husband, who did not fear to go into court to refute them. She eventually went on the stage and Earl Russell eloped to the United States with Mrs. Mollie Somerville. There he married her but on return to this country he was tried for bigamy and sentenced to imprisonment.

He served his time, but the conviction has recently been wiped off the records.

After fifteen years with his second wife Lord Russell left her, and her suit for the restitution of conjugal rights proving ineffective, she obtained her divorce last year.

Lord Russell is an electrical engineer by profession. He is also a barrister and has considerable knowledge of medicine. He is a Socialist and agnostic, and has been considered outside the pale of the more conventional section of society.

Countess von Armin, before the war enjoyed social standing, but since August, 1914, her position has been complicated by her German family. It was for this reason decided public that her two elder daughters should visit friends in the United States.

Can You Afford Any but a Titan Kerosene Engine?

AT present average prices for kerosene and gasoline, Titan kerosene engines save their owners about 1.1c. per horse power per hour over gasoline engines.

Figure it this way. On an 8-horse engine the saving is 8.8c. an hour, 88c. in a 10-hour day, $88 in 100 days of work. Say that is all your engine does in a year.

It would cost you $88 more than you need to pay, to run an 8-horse gasoline engine one year. That is more than a third of the price of the engine. Can you afford to throw away $88 a year? Can you afford even to think of buying a gasoline engine, when you can get a Titan that uses kerosene? See the Titan dealer and talk this over. He has some interesting figures to show you.

RU-BER-OID
ROOFING
LASTS MORE—WEARS LONGER

RU-BER-OID is the ideal roofing because it meets the most exacting requirements. It has the endorsement of underwriters and fire department officials the world over as a safe roofing.

And RU-BER-OID is permanently weatherproof and water-proof, and wears proof. Foundries, railroads and chemical works employ it under conditions where sparks and fumes would soon destroy other roofs. It contains no coal tar or asphaltum oils.

Hundreds of RU-BER-OID Roofs are still watertight after more than 20 years of hard wear. The U. S. Appellate Court has enjoined imitators from using the name "Rubberoid" or any similar name as the trade name or brand of their roofing.

We sell the genuine, with the "Ru-bid Man" (shown above) on every roll. We have it in slate gray and in Tile Red or Copper Green. Come in and examine it.

HURLEY AVENUE TO BE IMPROVED

Thursday evening a special meeting of the common council was held at the request of Mayor Canfield who that morning had issued a special call for the meeting for the purpose of approving the proposed improvement to Hurley avenue. Alderman Hull offered a resolution which was unanimously adopted of a similar nature to the one recently passed by the board of public works requesting the state highway department to build the proposed roadway a width of thirty-two feet on Hurley avenue from Washington avenue to Snyder avenue. The state specifications called for a width of 16 feet, and the city will pay for the extra 16 feet to be built. From Snyder avenue to the city line the roadway will be 16 feet wide. The road will be built of concrete.

ERNEST EDWARD PIGNONE
MARRIED FOR LOVE AND NOT CLASS SAYS DR. BUCKLEY'S DAUGHTER.

Morrisstown, N. J., May 5.—"I married the man I wanted the most, that's all. It doesn't make much difference when a girl in love whether the man she marries is a hod-carrier or a college professor. If he's the right man, nothing else matters."

Mrs. Ernest Edward Pignone, frail and ethereal looking, smiled as she made this statement.

This was her explanation for secretly marrying Ernest E. Pignone, a brick layer and "strong man" of Morrisstown's little Italy. Her father, the Rev. Dr. James M. Buckley, a world famous leader in the Methodist Episcopal Church has given the couple his blessing and invited them to live with him in his large house in the exclusive colony here. Mr. Pignone is a Catholic. "Religion can't fight love, and I guess father knew it," said Mrs. Pignone.

A Model Ice Cream Parlor.

Olivet's ice cream parlor at 483 Broadway has undergone important improvements and alterations. Sanitary tables—the most modern furnishings of that character—have been installed which, with substantial, up-to-date chairs, make ice cream eating a pleasure at that popular confectionery. The former generous-sized soda fountain has been enlarged and in future there will be two soda dispensers instead of one obviating the necessity of waiting for thirst quenching refreshments. Mr. Olivet has purchased an auto delivery car and is doing everything possible to bring his business up to the successful high level which his efforts merit.

METHODISTS FIND PAPERS EXPENSIVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Saratoga Springs, May 5.—The fifth day of the Methodist Episcopal general conference was occupied by the roll call of the various conferences and the presentation by delegates of memorials proposing amendments to the Book of Discipline. More than 1,000 memorials have been handed to the secretary of the convention.

Rev. Dr. Frank M. North, corresponding secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, announced to the convention today the request of $800,000 to the general conference board of claimants by Mrs. D. Willis James of New York city. Of this amount $50,000 was given a few days ago. This announcement caused a remarkable demonstration. The delegates jumped to their feet and following the singing of a hymn, Bishop J. W. Bashford officiated prayer.

Never in the history of Methodism has such a large amount been left by an individual or an organization to the church.

Announcement was also made today that William J. Bryan, former secretary of state, had accepted the invitation extended by the general conference and would leave before that body on May 22 the anniversary of the Church Temperance Society.

Public marked the anniversary of the anti-saloon league and a large meeting addressed by several prominent temperance speakers has been arranged for late in the day.

Among some of the memorials introduced today was one calling upon the clergy to abstain from the use of tobacco. Another called for a report from the committee on the book concern concerning all matters pertaining to the loss on periodicals, consolidation of the Advocates (church papers) and other matters of economic administration. This memorial brought to light the fact that the loss on all church papers during the last four years was over $300,000 due in part to the reducing in price of subscriptions.

ROSENDALE REALTY ACTIVE

R. Spindler's Enterprise Interests
Purchasers in Ideal Sites

R. Spindler, the enterprising real estate agent of 114 West 11th St., has sold the following properties recently in the town of Rosendale to New York parties. The Rhodes property, which is considered one of the finest properties in the village of Rosendale, also the Whiteport Hotel and the Island farm located at the River Falls. Besides this he has been interested in several other sites. The Van Wageningen home situated in Creek Locks has been transferred to him recently, and he is improving the property now for a large boarding house. Its ideal location on the Rondout Creek close to Greenkill Park and the boat landings make it an especially desirable property. Several New York men are interested in the property and no doubt it will be sold shortly.

Mr. Spindler has made many things around Rosendale since he settled there coming from Brooklyn several years ago. After traveling around the world several times Mr. Spindler selected that location as his permanent home on account of its healthfulness, mountain scenery and proximity to Kingston. Besides the real estate business, Mr. Spindler is proprietor of the Hotel Elms, a summer resort, and a poultry selling baby chicks and hatching eggs is one of his hobbies, and another is giving information on all these subjects to begin news and others.

ONE CENT A WORD ADVS. BRING RESULTS

GREAT VALUE-GIVING AT Lay's Saturday Sale

We never get ruffled when we hear the term "luck" applied to the great growth of this market, because we know it is merely a word that certain competitors sling at us for having done the right things at the right time in the right way.

Among seafaring men there is an adage that good winds are generally on the side of the ablest navigator. As for ourselves we rather lean toward Thomas Edison's definition of luck—inspiration and perspiration.

It was not "luck" that gave our Saturday Sales their great popularity among economical meat buyers. Price, quality, service and a determination to give the biggest and best money's worth to be obtained in the city were factors that brought success our way and those factors will "be on our job" here Saturday.

HOUSECLEANING A DELAY TO DEFENSE

Dr. Buckley's Contract with State Road Construction Company Denied in Supreme Court Trial—O'Leary Suit to Jury Today.

Thursday afternoon's session of Supreme Court was taken up with the trial of the O'Leary-State Road Construction Company case, the principal witnesses being Dr. Buckley, John J. O'Leary and Samuel Beskin, who is president of the company, being seen for services by the State, O'Leary to an injured employee. The question of whether Dr. Buckley had a written contract with the construction company arose and Dr. Buckley was recalled and testified that there had been such a contract but whether it still existed he did not know. Counsel for the defense thought this was an important thing in the case and Mr. Brinnier asked Dr. Buckley if he could produce it.

"If I can find it, most assuredly," said Dr. Buckley. Asked if it could be produced within an hour's time, Dr. Buckley informed Mr. Brinnier that he was cleaning house and everything was up-side-down and he was unable to find anything at present. The doctor will endeavor to produce the document in court today.

Samuel Beskin, president of the company, testified that the understanding with Dr. Buckley was that a sum of $1 a month per man was to be paid the doctor for all medical and hospital care. This sum was due semi-monthly and as there were several hundred men on the job the amount was considerable. This pay however, did not come from the treasury of the company, said Mr. Beskin, it came out of the pay of the men. The authority of certain foremen on the job to give orders and make contracts was questioned at great length, to which Mr. Beskin answered that he was the only man who could make contracts and during the time the work on the Ashokan road was being done he was on the job a greater part of the time. Mr. Beskin and his wife are the only stockholders in the company.

The case will probably go to the jury some time during the day. Dr. Buckley was recalled to the witness stand at the opening of court this morning and although as he stated on Thursday it was housecleaning time and everything was up-side down at his house, he had been able to find the contract which he had made with the State Highway Construction Company in regard to his taking care of the men employed on the job. The contract was placed in evidence. When Dr. Buckley first took over the work he was to receive fifty cents a man a month for the services rendered but later was to receive the regular rate paid in the other labor camps in the vicinity.

After the examination of Dr. Buckley, both sides rested and Mr. Brinnier summed up for the defendant after the usual motion to dismiss the complaint was made. Attorney Cook summed up for the plaintiff and the case was sent to the jury.

The jury in the O'Leary case brought in a verdict of no cause for action this afternoon.

Negligence Case Settled.
Mr. Brinnier announced that the negligence case of George L. Delaney against Clinton Van Buskirk, who was represented by Byron L. Davis, had been settled and it was taken from the calendar. Cases 56 and 57, Van DeMark against Burns, both cases for damages for personal injuries, were announced ready for trial.

D. A. R. Handsomely Remembered.
The monthly meeting of Wiltryck Chapter, D. A. R., held at the chapter house Thursday afternoon, was very largely attended and proved to be of unusual interest. Miss Harriet Case, treasurer of the committee in charge of the Ruth Deyo concert, reported the net proceeds from that concert to be $265.75. Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman of the committee in charge of providing the comfort packets for French soldiers, stated that 94 such packets had been sent to headquarters by the chapter, and had been acknowledged from that point, and furthermore an interesting and appreciative letter had been received from Mrs. Willard Hatch, whose address in this city moved the women of the chapter to take up the work. Mrs. Philip Elting of New Paltz, the delegate from Wiltryck Chapter to the Continental Congress in Washington, gave a vivid account of the various sessions of the convention. She called attention to the fact that there are now 1,507 reported chapters in the United States, including 7,639 new members and a full enrollment of 91,996 members. She further said that Mrs. Storey, president general, urged upon all chapters the desirability of the national body doing all in its power to preserve Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson. As a remembrance from Washington, Mrs. Deyo presented the chapter with a handsome bas relief plaque, bearing the emblem of the Daughters of the American Revolution. After the presentation of this gift, the regent, Mrs. Philip Elting, asked the vice regent, Mrs. DeWitt Roosa, to take the chair for a few moments, and after warmly expressing her appreciation of the loyalty and friendship extended to her by the members of Wiltryck Chapter, Mrs. Elting presented the chapter with her gift from Washington, a beautiful silver art vase, bearing the inscription, "Wiltryck Chapter, D. A. R. from the Regent, Katherine R. Elting, 1916." Both gifts were accepted with the heartiest thanks.

CHICAGO MILKLESS SUNDAY?

16,000 Workers Idle Today—Appeal to Men.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, May 5.—Sixteen thousand Chicago workers were idle today and there was every prospect of the number increasing through sympathetic strikers as the day wore on. The International Harvester Company, whose 11,900 employees are out, carried large advertisements in the newspapers today appealing to the men to come back to work, and not be lured away by the "big but temporary wages paid by munitions manufacturers."

Of course, weather conditions were partly responsible for the condition of our road during the past week, but the people have a right to protest against such a calamity happening again, even at the risk of being called "howlers" or "kickers."

Would it not be advisable in a season of unsettled weather to tear up the road in sections and finish up the job each day or are we not supposed to make suggestions to those over us in authority?

Elmer Ward of Jersey City and two friends from Mombacuss spent Saturday evening at Leonard Van Etten's, coming by auto. The party had rather a thrilling experience owing to the bad condition of the road the last two or three miles of the journey.

R. R. PRESIDENT CALLED ANARCHIST BY LAWYER FOLK

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 5.—"All legislative bodies are a menace; in action they are a calamity. A great railroad therefore must resort to strong measures to protect its property from confiscation."

This statement was made today by Milton Smith, president of the Louisville and Nashville railway before Chairman Meyer, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who is investigating the financial affairs of the road. Smith gave it in justification of the company's action in intervening in the politics of every state into which the railroad extends.

"Why shouldn't the Louisville and Nashville road enter politics to protect its interests?" asked President Smith.

"If you knew Mrs. Hetty Green, a very capable woman, she would tell you that her chief trouble in her career has been protecting her property. Under our form of government persons are permitted to go almost any length to get people's property from them so long as they can keep out of jail. Our form of government make plutocrats an inevitable part of society. The doctrine that all men are equal is not sound when applied to our people. Capital is the breath of life and the shifting and dividing and changing hands of capital in what proves the inequality of the people."

The expression of Mr. Smith's principles of government prompted Joseph W. Folk, chief counsel for the interstate commerce commission to charge the railroad president with being an anarchist.

President Smith denied he is an anarchist and said he would not have the railroads rule the country but would have the amount of legislation reduced.

"The American people are the greatest lawmakers and the greatest law breakers in the world. Any ambitious legislator can make mischievous and dangerous laws," said the railroad president.

Mr. Smith said his road had been of great assistance to cities and states in its territory.

Smith's counsel asserted that Lea's motives necessarily were under investigation.

OLD TIME EGG HOAX.

A Joke That Did Not Result Just as the Perpetrator Expected.

Away back in the days when Miller was preaching the near end of the world there were two men living in Lawrenceville, neighbors, who may be named Brown and Jones, who were like unto Jonathan and David. Jones was a chicken fancier. Both, like most people in that day, discussed Millerism.

One Saturday night Brown, who had read somewhere that if a potted stick were dipped in oil anything written with it on an egg, and with the egg held to the fire, would remain indelible.

Brown wrote on an egg, "The world will come to an end on Oct. 20, 1844," the day Miller had stated, and placed the egg in one of Jones' nests, expecting Jones would come to him as soon as he found it and after a good laugh he would tell him it was done.

But Jones, as soon as he could get his clothes on, rushed to the home of his neighbor. The news spread like wildfire, and persons coming to town to church carried it, and all Sunday there was a throng calling on Jones to see the egg. Brown viewed the crowd with a much troubled mind, and at last he went to Jones and told the story. Never after that did Jones speak to Brown.—Letter to Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

STABLED IN THE OCEAN.

This Horse Is Not Only Henpecked, but Lives in the Sea.

There is a horse that eats no oats, hay or corn. He is stabled in the deep waters of the Mediterranean and the Atlantic ocean and pastures in submarine fields of seaweed. He wears bony armor and a tail curved like a monkey's, and yet he's a fish. His animal head has given him his popular name—sea horse.

With all these varied characteristics the sea horse is not fast, vicious nor handsome. Like his cousin, the pipe fish, he is a poor swimmer, also, he is henpecked. Mrs. Sea Horse makes him take care of the children.

To help him in his work as nursemaid he has a pouch beneath his tail, formed by folds of skin and completely closed except for a small hole in front. In this pouch the eggs are deposited, and they remain there until they are hatched.

There are about twenty species of sea horses in the waters of the globe, a common one being the short snouted variety. Around Australia is a sea horse which is decorated with numerous spines, terminated by leadlike appendages. These are so near the color of the seaweeds among which they live that they appear actually a part of the vegetation.—Philadelphia North American.

The Race With the Ram.

In Morocco the strange season of the Mohammedan new year, beginning March 9, is generally called "Ait-el-Hanawel," the rain feast. The people of Morocco pay more elaborate attention to the item of sacrifice than any other Moslems. In every town a supreme offering of a ram or he goat takes place at the door of the principal mosque. Immediately after it is struck by the official imam in presence of the multitude it is flung on the shoulders of a stalwart Moor, who, exerting his utmost strength, runs like a deer through the narrow streets, pursued by a rabble. The poor animal is pelted with stones by boys and is joined at with execrations from every house, as it is reputed to be carrying the sins of the people. The man rushes along with his burden till he reaches the door of the cadi's palace. If the animal is still breathing the auction is excellent, for good luck is to be expected all through the year. But if the ram is dead all sorts of evil prognostications are muttered.

TWO GREAT PHRASES.

Which One of Them Is It That You Are in the Habit of Using?

Did you ever reckon how many times a day you say "I can't" or hear it said?

Probably a much shorter stint would be to count the number of times you hear or say, "I will."

These two sentences contain the whole story of character. They are the metal from which men shape success or failure.

We hammer and forge this metal daily.

With "I can't" we cast a weight which fastens us down. With "I will" we shape a marvelous spring which some day lands us at the height of our ambition.

After awhile we cannot move the weight at all, but in the end we cannot resist the spring. It raises us in spite of ourselves, for "I will" has become a habit.

Sometimes a man who has weighted himself down by repeating "I can't" says enviously, "Nothing succeeds like success." And this is true, but he forgets that back of the first success was an "I will" and then another and then another.

"I can't." "I will." There are the two most important sentences in any man's vocabulary.

Would we not better reverse the number of times most of us use them every day?—Illinois State Journal.

Her Trouseau.

Frederick Lemaitre, the celebrated actor, was somewhat parsimonious. When his daughter was about to marry Lemaitre agreed to provide the "dot" and the trousseau. "Dot," it may be observed, is the French equivalent for the English "dower."

When the notary came to complete the contract and was reading the terms Lemaitre said: "The daughter of Frederick Lemaitre has not need of a dot. M. Le Notaire, strike out the dot."

A Warning.

"What are you doing in my room?" asked the man who was awakened by a burglar.

"I'm robbing the place."

"You merely think you are. Everything here was bought on the installment plan, and if you take the property you'll be responsible for the balance. You're not robbing anybody. You're running into debt."—Washington Star.

Got Him Guessing.

"Why these clothes, my dear?"

"I thought you were fond of them," explained the innocent young bride.

"You seem to partake of them downtown every day."

Then he looked fixedly at her, but could arrive at no conclusion as to her motives.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Proper Spirit.

"That ticket seller has the right idea."

"In what way?"

"He doesn't act as though he were doing me a personal favor to sell me tickets of admission to his theater."

Detroit Free Press.

It Will Be All Right Then.

Edith—I shouldn't think you'd want to marry such a forgetful man as Jack. Ethel—But he says the reason he forgets things is because he's thinking so constantly of me that he cannot remember anything else. Edith—Oh, I see. You don't expect to have any trouble after you are married.—Boston Transcript.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS A CLEANUP WEEK

In order to further the Clean-up and Paint-up movement inaugurated several years ago and again adopted this year, Mayor Canfield has issued a proclamation urging citizens to observe Clean-up and Paint-up during all of next week.

The mayor's proclamation is as follows:

Whereas, a custom was born a few years ago amongst cities to have an annual clean-up and paint-up week, which has already been adopted by nearly all the cities in the United States, and which has received recognition from the governors of various states, including our own state, and

Whereas, such a weekly campaign each year results in great benefit to a community, including, amongst other benefits:

The awakening of civic pride.

The removal of litter, rubbish and dirt, producing a cleaner, healthier and more attractive city.

The substitution of a scientific, systematic and complete clean-up for the old time "hit-or-miss annual bath."

A condition whereby fire losses are prevented or reduced.

Now, therefore, I, Palmer Canfield, Jr., as mayor of the City of Kingston, N. Y., do hereby officially proclaim the week of May 8-13, inclusive, to be "clean-up and paint-up week" in our city.

It is earnestly requested that all citizens, including all children, cooperate with the board of health in an effort to produce a spotless city.

All organizations, including the Boy Scouts, are urged to assist in the removal of disease breeding refuse and places, which will result in inestimable benefit to the health of the people of our city, and improve the appearance of our city, and make our city safer from fires.

House owners and tenants are urged to remove all refuse and rubbish from their homes, cellars and yards and place the same in receptacles that can be handled and placed on the streets on the usual days that ashes and papers and rubbish are collected.

Clean-up. Paint-up and plant flowers and help us make Kingston City safe from disease, with fewer fires and a cleaner and more attractive and comfortable place to live. Remember it is your home town. Show your civic pride. Exhibit your public spirit.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 4th day of May in the year nineteen hundred and sixteen.

PALMER CANFIELD, JR., Mayor.

Red Cross Not Shipping to Germany.

Owing to the strictness of the blockade of the allied powers against the central powers, the American Red Cross for months past has been unable to secure required permits from the allied powers for the shipment of supplies of any kind to the central powers. As a consequence, such large amounts of designated supplies for the central powers, which have been received for several months past by the Red Cross, have had to be stored at its Brooklyn terminal warehouse, that it now becomes necessary, on account of lack of further storage room in the warehouse, to request all Red Cross Chapters and other relief organizations not to send any more such supplies to the warehouse for shipment until further notice.

The above communication has been received by the local Red Cross from headquarters at Washington, D. C.

House of Commons Bull.

Mr. John Simon scored a "bull" in a speech in the house of commons. "The reason I call this bill the thin end of the wedge," he remarked, "is that by itself it cannot stand on two legs."

Mr. Balfour once spoke of "an empty theater of unsympathetic auditors."

Lord Randolph Churchill of "a mere scribble in the ocean of our expenditure," and Mr. Gladstone warned an M. P. "not to shake his head in the teeth of his own words."—London Standard.

HOW To Make a Safe Gift For Almost Any Man

There is one article which it is safe for a woman to embroider for a man, and that is a handkerchief. Women, too, who object to what they call embroidered fold-rolls are always glad to accept embroidered handkerchiefs simply because they are useful things to receive. Frequently it is difficult to find the exact initial one desires. There are types of initials that are particularly suitable for certain types of people. For this reason one should use judgment in selecting the letters for handkerchiefs.

Failing to locate a suitable initial among one's collection of needlework designs, the next best thing is to look over the front pages of one's books. On one or more of these one is sure to find an initial of the right size and style. Once found it is quite an easy matter to transfer the letter with carbon paper to the corner of the handkerchief.

Pad the letter carefully and then embroider over it in solid stitches, placing the stitches close together, so that the result will be pleasing. White or colored cotton or silk can be used to work the letter.

Beauty can be added to the initial or initials embroidered on the handkerchief by surrounding the letters with a delicate floral wreath. A plain circle of eyelets is also effective.

FOR SPRING HOUSECLEANING.

How to Polish Furniture So That It Looks Like New.

Polished furniture should require no other treatment than washing with warm water, to which a very little methylated spirit has been added, followed by a vigorous rubbing with very soft cloths. For furniture which has been stained and polished and has become scratched it is best to get a good oil and color man or a furniture dealer to put up a French polish mixture, which can be used very sparingly. Polishing with a thin beeswax and turpentine polish answers satisfactorily if there are no scratches.

For the cheaper kinds of furniture a mixture of methylated spirit with a small quantity of orange shellac can be used. This will remove scratches and brighten the furniture, but must be used sparingly. If the furniture needs brightening only a beeswax polish can be used or a mixture of linseed oil, turpentine and vinegar in equal parts.

FOR SOIL GRUBBERS.

How to Make Your Worn Out Garden Soil More Fertile.

In many cases rotted stable manure and humus will prove all that the gardener need add to make his garden fertile, but in some cases, especially where the ground is being worked annually, it will be well to add a commercial fertilizer. The best results are usually gained by the rotation of crops—that is, by never planting the same piece of ground with the same crop two years in succession.

The government agricultural bureau issues charts and pamphlets showing the proper rotation of crops which will prove invaluable to the gardener. They can be obtained, along with much other valuable information, for the asking.

HOW TO KEEP YOUR PET FURS FROM DIRTY RAVAGES.

About this season of the year one's furs that were so soft and glossy and back in November begin to take on a matted, dingy look which is distressing. If madam's pet Pomeranian ever took on the rusty, matted appearance of her furs in February he would be dropped into the bathtub without loss of time. But furs may not be treated in this simple, practical fashion when they become soiled. For all that is the matter with furs in spring is that they are soiled. No one ever thinks of using a whisk broom to furs, yet obviously the fur coat has acquired as much dust as the broadcloth or velvet suit, assiduously brushed every time it is taken off. Dirt and dust do not remain on the surface of fur, but work down into the roots of the hairs, which become matted because of it. All furs should be shaken briskly in the open air once a week, and it will do no harm to hang them on the line and give them a brisk beating with a light wand. A near seal coat will keep its smooth texture better if brushed over lightly now and then with a whisk broom dipped in cold water.

How to Open Sardine Cans Without a Slip of the Tool.

Those who have trouble in opening a sardine can will find this is a good way: Start the key as usual, then insert the blade of a can opener in the loop of the key and turn. This acts as a lever, removes all strain and opens the can easily.

How to Ship a Mirror Without a Fatal Breakage.

To ship a mirror without breaking the glass paste narrow strips of paper diagonally across the glass. This breaks the vibrations and prevents the damage that often results.

A Reminder.

"The old fashioned boy used to mind every word his father said."

"Yes," replied the somewhat cynical youth, "but you must remember that the old fashioned boy had one of those thoughtful old fashioned fathers."—Washington Star.

SHIP'S FROM OX TEAM TO AUTO PRAIRIE SCHOONER FOR TRANS-CONTINENTAL JOURNEY.

(Extra Meaker and His "Schooner-Mobile.")

This photograph of the octogenarian transcontinental traveler and his "schoonermobile" was made at Washington, D. C., as he started on a cross country trip to Olympia, Wash., a distance of 3,560 miles. Mr. Meaker, who is eighty-five years old, has made three trips across the Oregon trail by oxcart. The object of this trip is to obtain a report for submission to Congress on the probable cost of building a national military highway across the continent. He will make the trip in about one-tenth the time of his former journeys.

Pleasant Prospect.
"To isn't stopped at de Palace hotel befo', is yo', boss?" inquired the colored man who was piloting a just arrived traveler from the railway station to the hotel.
"No. But what makes you sure of it?"
